Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in joining Coca-Cola HBC Macedonia. I'm an IT student with a strong interest in technology, and I also have solid English communication skills thanks to my experience living and working in the United States through the Work and Travel program.

During my studies in Information Technology, I've gained hands-on experience with software development, systems administration, and databases. I'm passionate about learning and applying new skills, and I enjoy solving problems and working as part of a team.

My time in the USA helped me improve my spoken and written English, and it also gave me the chance to work in a fast-paced, multicultural environment. I feel confident communicating in English, which I believe is a strong advantage in any international company like Coca-Cola.

I'm excited about the idea of being part of such a well-known brand and contributing to your team. I'd love the chance to grow professionally and learn more about how I can help support your work.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application. I hope to hear from you soon.

Best regards,

Dime Stojanov
